PARKHURST TO THE PEOPLE. HE ASKS APPROVAL FOR THE END,

"yorget Me and My Methods; Rememb Only the Wickedness of the Police' A Good Word for Sunbeam Erving. This was sent to the newspapers last night by the Rev. Dr. C. H. Parkhurst. "I regret the egotism that seems involved in presuming to address so broad a readerhip. I trust, however, that I shall be acguitted of any presumptuous intention, more especially as up to this time I have not penned single word, either in acknowledgment of the support that has been accorded me or in reply to the criticisms that have been passed upon me. Even now my object is not so much to defend the methods which I have seen it wise to adopt as to put in distinct shape the one object toward which I am working, whether as preacher or as President of the Society for the Prevention of Crime.

"In the sermon which was preached from my pulpit on the 14th of February last the one point urged was that one of the greatest difficulties which the Church has to encounter in the prosecution of its work is the license which is municipally allowed to vice. This was in mediately met, on the part of municipal authorities, with a tempest of raillery which culminated in the presentment of the February Grand Jury. I was told that my charges were general, that I had no idea what I was talking about, and that the whole tendency of such vituperation was to bring the Government into disrepute.

"In the sermon preached from the same pulpit four weeks later I accepted the situatook and maintained the position that not only were the general charges that I had previously made supported by facts, but, specifically, that liquor saloons, gambling houses, and houses of prostitution were protested by the Police Department, apparently for a valuable consideration.

My contention was then, is now, and will continue to be, with the controlling powers of the Poller Department, considered as the guardian of criminality, meaning by that simpir what was comprised in the presentment of the March Grand Jury, which held up that de-partment before the community in the charserof a criminal; and it still hangs there. The evidence which, with the aid of detectives and friends. I was easily able to collect was secured with the distinct end of showing by unit peacemble testimony something of the extent, infamy, and publicity of certain crimes, with the necessary inference that if a police force as competent as ours is conceded to be, and in the pussession of all these legal powers known to be accorded to at, take legal powers known to be accorded to at, take legal powers known to be accorded to at, take legal powers known to be accorded to at, take legal powers known to be accorded to at, take legal powers known to be accorded to at, take legal powers known to be accorded to at, take legal powers known to be accorded to at, take legal power with them. It was not at all a matter between me and any individual parties. When I went before the Grand Jury with set mindrates in the conviction of these parties. It does not be secured against them not the sake of inducing you to indict them. It will be a secured against the most beginner and an indictment against the Police regardment. and friends. I was easily able to collect was selorthe sake of inducing you to indict them, by object has been solely to secure in the general mind an indictment against the Police repairment.

Then therefore, for instance, the suit against the Police repairment.

Then therefore, for instance, the suit against the Police repairment.

Then therefore, for instance, the suit against the keeper of that low resort on I wenty-seventh street is represented as a covention between Dr. Parkhurst and Hattle Adams, there is not a suggestion of truth in it have no personal controversy with her or with the keeper of any other disorderly house or gamiling house. My contention is only with the rolice, who allow the crimes of such houses to be so vile and accessible, in disregard of one of the rules of the department, which is that 'each patrolman must, by his vigliance, render it extremely difficult, if not impossible, for any one to commit crime on his post. My connection with the dispossess suit recently initiated against the lesses of the house just mentioned is due simply to the accident of my own knowledge of the character of that house, obtained for another purpose, but naturally enough utilized by the landlord, when it recently in referring to this case is to blow out of the air the smoke that the Folice Department and others in alliance with it are blowing into the air, and to bring clearly to the attention of the public the fact that the criminal par excellence is not Hattle Adams, nor 'Dink' Davis, nor 'Silver Dollar' Smith, but the Police Department, which the Grand Jury so vigorously scored—a scoring, by the way, which derives no small part of its significance from the fact that it expressed the unanimous consensus of a jury that was composed of Catholics, Jews, and Protestants, and made up of representatives of every political party.

Now, I am not going to enter into any defence of the methods which I adopted in order to secure my evidence. I will only take the liberty of saying that those methods were adopted after a prolonged balancing of the power to say, ' ten the hell which my personal knowledge of the biquity which they practically, not to say actually, aratect, has secured to me.

As to certain criticisms that have been lass detently my friends, I want to say that I give them to a credit for sincerity in their strictures. At the same time it is always to be remembered that it is a thousand times easier to criticise a discrete action than it is to take action one's all and if, while I was planning how leads a consecuent of the criticism of the semething to help the cause, so accase a had devised a better method than the second only too happy to strike and if and work at their side and under their lead. It has been claimed that we are so dirty a character I ought to have hield since one to do for me. Hoath the suggestion and Hoath the craven spirit that he can devise they are in If it was victous in me to visit those these system of eithes as that has either the side, with an added element of damantal councile, to get some one to do it for a Narra system of eithes as that has either the and vigor or the intellectual acuments to create the heart of existing corruption.

"In this connection I think it will not be men to tore into the heart of existing corruption.

"In this connection I think it will not be improper for me to acknowledge my obligation to my friend, John Langdon Erving, whom I have into be used to know with exceptional followers in the triple of the two with exceptional to my friend, John Langdon Erving, whom I have into be used to know with exceptional to the work, am cantoid greater is the confidence that I have in his manily purity to-day, for I know how he has shruto be reform. By the insight into his character which my experience with him has affected me, I know that he is in this respect that the sunbeam, which takes no tain from the foul object upon which it lights. "At the same time, follow clitzens, I do not ask you to approve my methods. They are approved in my own judgment and conscience, and that is enough for me. But I do appeal to you not be allow differences of opinion about methods to obscure the one object and end that we need to have in yiew. If the presentment of the March Grand Jury is true in its statements and in its implications, the Police Department, to which we have object in missing them in the five millions a year, instead of doing like throat the five millions as year, instead of doing like five millions a year, instead of doing like five millions a year, instead of doing like five millions a year, instead of doing like five millions as a sacred trust of ally, it always teleng understood that most generous exception is made of every member of that force who has she integrity and courage to treat his position as as ascred trust. The Police Department, taking the expression broadly, is therefore as much your enemy as it is mine. I teg of you therefore utter, to forget me in the earset oward which the best powers that I know how to exercise are being devoted. I prefoundly hate the conspicuity into which during the past ix weeks I have been brought. I "In this connection I think it will not be

There was a lively time among the tenants for a few minutes. Two fitemen were overcome by smoke. The damage was $200.

CHINESE PORCELAIN AT AUCTION.

Many Bare and Artistic Vases, Cups, and Rowis Sold to Collectors, A large variety of cups and bowls of Chinese orcelain were the first offerings at yesterday's session of the American Art Association sale. They were well received by the collectors, who constituted the majority of those present, and some of them brought excellent prices. The pieces were with a few exceptions very small. They were for the most part rich in color and of exquisite workmanship. Some were of great age.

Early in the afternoon two small dishes with escalloned edges brought $34, and a number of small bowls and wine cups ranged from $4 to $25. Mr. Palmer bid a six-inch bowl up to $145 before he secured it. Mr. Palmer also bought a covered egg-shell bowl, with mandarin ducks, in black and gold, for $80. A dark-rose bowl went for $15 to George Hearne, Jr., who now, under an assumed name, began to buy rather freely. Another new buyer was Mr. Weinhandler, who secured number of wine cups and white porcelains. There was a brisk contest over a flaring eggshell bowl with indented edges, showing under a white glaze transparent dragons, ornaments, and clouds, which was sold for $77.50. A large bowl was brought wrapped in a paper.

A large bowl was brought wrapped in a paper, an accident during the afternoon having resulted in smashing it into a hundred pieces. All the places were preserved, and, as its teakwood stand showed carving of an unusually high order, it fetched $25.

Fifty-seven pieces of white procedain, including three pairs, were now offered. They brought out excellent prices for an auction sale. The first ligure put up was a figure of Kwan-lin, here pietured, in ivery white, Kwan-lin is the Goddess of Mercy. This figure was 104, inches high, and H. S. Higgins got it for $125.

Soon after Robert Hoe, through a representative, paid $82.50 for a superb lottle vase with arnbesque designs carved in low relief and covered by a soft white

Mrs. Hudson paid $77.50 for a small trumpettop beaker. Then the melon-shaped vase, the cut of which is hers shown, was put up. This belonged to the Kea-King period, and showed delicately modelled arabesques under a white glaze. Mr. Hee paid $145 for it after a rather spirited contest, T. B. Charke had to pay $40 for a wide shallow coupe, showing an engraved dragon and clouds under white glaze, and Mr. Hearne paid the same price for a bottle care, with lotos in relief. An ovoid vase of

The ovoid vase, with floral and arabesque ornaments in low relief under white glaze, occasioned a little lively bidding. Mr. Gould got it for $110. Mr. Hearne bid a low globular pardinter in white glaze laid over rose-colored dragons up to $07.50.

Mr. Rhinelander bid against several for a bottle vase of archaic design up to $07.50.

sale. There were expected to provoke some high tidding, but the auctioneer was disanpointed. The few experts carried away the prizes at figures which.
Auctioneer Kirby said after the sale, were ridiculously below all expectations. Mr. Gould bought an evel wase of light celadon, with raised borders in archaic design, brought $142.50.

A broad evel wase, with receding neck and tube-form handles, went to Mr. Ostler for $295, after a lively contest. This was expected to bring three times as much, as was

A fine white passe jar, covered with pale celadon glaze of beautiful quality, went begging at $210, and a tail vase, with broad neck brought $125. Mrs. Hudson contested the possession of an ovoid jar up to $130, at which price it was sold.

The last offering of the day was a Yung-Cheng bottle, like the cut here shown, for which the auctioneer asked a final price of $1,000. It was $21 inches high and showed large dragons in bold relief with clouds and sea waves, it was started at $200, but got no further than $380, where it was knocked down to Thomas II. Clarke. The proceeds of the day amounted to $1,100. This afternoon porcelain cabinet objects, eggshells, and jades will be sold.

THREE HOMES UNDER ONE ROOF.

836,000 Given to Grace Church on the Da It Was Asked for Parish Work.

The Roy, W. R. Huntington, rector of Grace Church, has just received for work in the parish three important gifts aggregating $30,-100 in value, which came to him on the same day that he made the appeal from the chancel. On Sunday, April 3, Dr. Huntington called the attention of his congregation to the good that might be done in the immediate neighborhood by a parish home for the aged and for children in need of temporary shelter. He said that in the region between Broadway and children in need of temporary shelter. Ho said that in the region between Broadway and the East River there were upward of a thousand families owning some allegiance to Grace Church, and cases were frequently arising that called for temporary aid and case.

The rector added that a lady in the congregation had promised to pay the running expenses of such a home for three years and to live in it and administer its affairs. The vestry had promised the use of three contiguous lots on East Thirteenth street, in the rear of Grace Chapel, and Dr. Huntington proposed that the home should in a figurative way represent the group in the temple at the presentation of Christ. He suggested that the three houses under one roof oe named respectively the House of Simon (for old men, the House of Anna (for old women), and the House of the Holy Child (for little children).

Dr. Huntington said that the cost of each would be about $12,090. So much interest was aroused in the project that by nightfall of the same day three denors, whose names are withheld, had promised to contribute the sums which Dr. Huntington required.

In announcing these gifts at the close of his Palm Sunday sermen Ir. Huntington said that his request of the Sunday previous was a pure venture of faith, and he had no reason to know that any particular persons would come forward. He was totally unprepared for the generous promptitude which resulted in all three houses being promised before sunset on that day.

Baylls's Crime Was Murder in the Secon Begree.

Henry Baylis, who is also known as Edward Gould, was tried yesterday in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in Jersey City for the murder of Androw Roberts in Guttenburg on Jan 10. Baylis and Roberts, both colored, were employed at the Guttenburg track. One night they quarrolled over a game of pool in George Mittners saloon in Hergenline avenue, and Baylis stabhed R herts in the abdomen. Roberts died in St. Mary's Hospital, and Baylis escaped. He was cantured in Pennsylvania. The jury feard a verdet yesterday of murder in the recondence. The extreme penalty for his crime is twenty years in State prison.

SAYS GRANT SAVED MONEY.

INTERESTING TESTIMONY IN THE JAMES-WORK SUIT.

Henry Work Swears that Gen, Grant Knew that the Firm Received Moneys on Which 20 Per Cont. Profit Was Paid, and that He Saved Something.

Yesterday's session of the James-Work suit was the most interesting one of the trial. Mr. Work was in the witness chair and under crossexamination by Joseph H. Choate. Mr. Work was perfectly calm and cool under the crossquestioning. He evaded answering the quesions at different times in a direct manner. Mr. Choate began by inquiring of Mr. Work if he had produced his check books for the years 1883-1884 which might throw some light on the transactions in suit. Mr. Work said that he did not have them and could not

Q.-Did your intimate and affectionate relations with Gen. Grant continue down to the time of his death? A .- I never had any change toward him and he never had any change

Q .- You always felt affectionate toward him? O .- Did you know that the failure of Grant & Ward brought Gen. Grant to utter poverty?

Q.-You didn't read it in the newspapers A .- I did.

Q.-You didn't believe it then? A.-No. sir. Q.-Did you believe that he had saved something out of the failure? A.-Yes, sir. Q.-Did you tell that to anybody? A.-It was not necessary. Q .- Is this the first time that you put that imputation upon him? A.-I am not putting any imputation upon him. O - is this the first time that you have desomething out of that failure? A .- I perhaps should have said that something was saved

Q.-Did it come to your knowledge that on Q.—Did it come to your knowledge that on the eye of the failure a friend of Gen. Grant had lent him $150,000? A.—Yes, sir; Gen. Grant told me.

Q.—And that that money had been swept away in the failure? A.—No, sir. Gen. Grant told me that he had repaid that money before the failure.

Q.—Didn't you know that that meney went into the firm and that it was paid out to Warner by Ferdinand Ward? A.—No. sir.

Q.—What efforts did you make when you learned it to restore or cause Warner to restore this money to the firm or to Gen. Grant?

Mr. Work then proceeded to give a long explanation of having told the assignee of Grant & Ward that Warner would do what was right, and what an honest man would do. He said that Gen. Grant told him the day after the failure that it had been paid back before the failure.

Q.—Did you ever tell anybody that before?

and what an honest man would do. He said that Gen. Grant told him the day after the failure.

Q.—Did you ever tell anybody that before?

A.—Yes sir. Roseoe Conkling.

Q.—Did you tell anybody who is now alive?

A.—Yes sir. many persons.

Q.—From whom did you get the information that Gen. Grant had saved something out of the firm?

A.—From William H. Vanderbili.

Q.—What were you told was saved out of the failure for Gen. Grant? A.—I was told in writing that Mr. Vanderbili intended to protect the house for the benefit of Gen. Grant and Mrs. Grant.

Q.—You mean that that was something saved out of the failure for Gen. Grant? A.—I was told in writing that Mr. Vanderbili intended to protect the house for the benefit of Gen. Grant and Mrs. Grant.

Q.—You mean that that was something saved out of the failure for Gen. Grant? A.—I think it was.

Mr. Work was questioned specifically as to each of the numerous contracts that he had in which Col. James was an interested party, in some of which enormous profits were realized. One contract of $52,000 realized $55,000 per month.

Q.—Your intimate relations with Gen. Grant were then established? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Did you go to him and tell him that some man was putting money into the firm and drawing out profits at a rate of 100 per cent. and 50 per cent? A.—No. sir.

Q.—You didn't think it would have been the part of friendship to do so? A.—He knew it.

Q.—Did you ever tell it before you told it to the jury? A.—I have never talked very much about Gen. Grant's affairs.

Q.—Did you ever tell it before you told it to the jury? A.—I have never talked very much about Gen. Grant's affairs.

Q.—To whom did you tell it; name the man, alive or dead? A.—It was not a matter which I cared to discuss.

Q.—Was it Ferdinand Ward? A.—I have not seen him for eight years.

Q.—To whom did you tell it? A.—I oble it.

Q.—Was he the man you told? A.—No. sir.

Q.—To whom did you tell it? A.—I have not seen him for eight years.

Q.—To whom did you tell it? A.—I have not seen him for eight years.

After recess Mr. Choate continued the cross-examination.

Q-You said that you knew that Gen. Grant, while these transactions were going on, knew that the firm was receiving moneys on which they were paying large profits at the rate of 20 per cent, per month? A.—Yes sir.

Q.—Who told you? A.—His son Fred. Grant was receiving profits at that rate and his son, U.S. Grant. Jr., and I understood them to say that the General was interested with them in matters of this character.

Q.—Did you read or hear read the deposition of Gen. Grant, made before his death in which he stated that at no time had he any knowledge of these transactions? A.—I never read it. After recess Mr. Choate continued the cross-

At the conclusion of Mr. Work's testimony, Col. James was recalled for the purpose of re-tuting some of the statements that have been made by Mr. Work. This ended the testimony in the case. The closing arguments of counsel will be made to-day, and the case submitted to the jury.

AID FROM THE SLATER FUND.

It Will Be Restricted This Year to a Dozen of the Largest Colored Schools. The annual meeting of the trustres of the John F. Slater fund was held yesterday at the office of President John H. Stewart of the United States Trust Company, in Wall street. The trustees who were reclected are: Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller of the United States Supreme Court, Daniel C. Gilman, President of the Johns Hopkins University: Senator Alfred H. Colquitt. Bishop H. C. Fotter, John A. Stewart, Morris R. Jesup, William E. Dodgo, William A. Slater, John A. Broadus, the Kev. J. L. M. Curry, and R. B. Hayes.

A new policy in regard to the colored schools of the South was adopted. The number of schools to receive aid will be reduced to include only tweive or thirteen of the largest. This course is taken in order to devote more money to the education of colored teachers. The trustees think that the industrial schools, which will not be aided under the new arrangement, are now in a position to go it alone because of the many gifts they receive. Last year thirty-seven schools received aid to the extent of $49,650. Supreme Court, Daniel C. Gilman, President

WHAT UPSET JERSEY CITY?

Democratic Statesmen Pondering on the Election of Col. Wanser, The Republican victory in Tuesday's charter election in Jersey City was so surprising that everybody is speculating as to its cause. One man says it was a determined effort to "down" the "ring." Another says it was Col. Wanser's personal popularity. The last Democratic reverse of the kind was in 1884 when Lawyer Gilbert Collins was elected over Dr. John D. McGill by nearly 2,500 majority. The one prior to that was in 1876, when the Republicans elected Charles Siedler. In each case the Democrats won the following election by the usual or an increased majority. The generally accepted theory of the cause of Tuesday's defeat cepted theory of the cause of Tuesday's defeat is the recent increase in taxation. Every man who owns a little house, and there is a very large number of them in Jersey City, resented the increase in his taxes and voted for the Republican candidate.

Mayor-elect Wanser has promised a great many reforms, but now that the excitement of the canvass is over people are beginning to ask how ho is going to carry them out. If he remains in office for the full term of live years he can make all the present municipal Boards many relotins, our new that he reason to the canvass is over people are beginning to ask how ho is going to carry them out. If he remains in office for the full term of live years he can make all the present municipal Boards Republican, but he can do nothing for a year. The only appointments the incoming Mayor can make until the latter part of April, 1803, are three members of the Board of Education and three Commissioners of Assessment, the latter under a new law, which takes effect about the middle of May. The members of the Board of Education whose terms expire on May 2 are John J. Voorhees and Hugh A. Kelly. Democrats, and Charles A. Plingster, Republican. Mayor Cleveland has several appointments to make before his term expires on May 1. He will appoint a Fire Commissioner in place of William F. Kern. two members of the Board of Finance in place of John Lenny, Democrat, and George I. Hillier. Republican; one Sinking Fund Commissioner in place of Alvah A. Bedell. Republican and three Commissioners of Appeal. This latter Board was created by an act of the last Legislature, and the appointees are removable at the pleasure of the Mayor. If Mayor Cleveland appoints Commissioners of Appeal the incoming Mayor can remove them as soon as he assumes office.

Many Republicans are laboring under the misapprehension that Police Superintendent Smith and Superintendent Brown of the Fire Department can be removed and their places illed by Republicans. The law creating both places provides that they shall be filled by the Mayor, and that the incumbents shall hold office during good behavior. They can be removed on charges only and after a trial, the same as other members of the departments. They came under the Tenure of Office law, which protects policemen and firemen from removal for political reasons.

The result of the election is generally looked upon as a severe blow to Gov. Abbett's Senatorial aspiration. MeDermont is recognized as the Governor's closest triend and confidential adviser. He is Chairman of the Democrati politicians ponder.

Mr. McDermott looked as smiling and self-contented yesterday as if nothing had happened. Defeat rests easily upon his broad shoulders. He did not care to talk shout the election, except to say that it was one of those idad waves in politics for which nobody can account. One thing is pretty certain, however, and that is, if he had known that a Republican was going to be Mayor he would not have latored to have the last Legislature pass the law which makes the term of office five years instead of two years, as heretofore. This, by the way, was one of the bills which Paster Scudder denounced as iniquitous legislation, and which the Republicans fought tooth and bail.

An outcome of the heated campaign was the arrest yesterday of Frank 0. Cole, a druggist and a local Republican leader, who took an active part in the capvass. He was arrested on complaint of Police Superintendent C. P. Smith, who accuses him of slander. In his speeches Cole declared that Smith was appointed Superintendent as ar eward for sounding a going in an engine house three years ago while the ballots were being counted, thereby causing a stampede, which enabled the election officers to stuff the ballot boxes. Superintendent Smith was not at the place named by Mr. Cole on that election night. Mr. Cole furnished $1,000 ball.

THE COROES ELECTION.

Kept Out of His Seat for Some Time.

TROY, April 13.-Political matters in Cohoes are in a sadly complicated condition. Strong (Rep.) is undoubtedly elected Mayor, Garside concedes Strong's election, while Gorman asserts that a compilation of all the returns will give him a slight plurality. The Common Council will meet as a Board of Canvassers next Tuesday. That body is composed of five Garside Democrats and five Republicans. Mayor Garside having a casting vote in cases of a tie. No returns from the Fourth ward aken by the Gorman police, are still in the station house. The City Clerk declares that he will not receive any returns that may be offered from the Fourth ward until the courts compel will not receive any returns that may be offered from the Fourth ward until the courts compel him to do so.

While the returns, exclusive of those from the Fourth ward, show a plurality of 288 for strong, it is doubtful that the latter will take his seat for some time to come, if at all. Under the city charter officers hold over until their successors legally qualify, and, as it is claimed that no legal canvass can be made until all the returns are in, the probabilities are very strong that there will be no canvass, and that finrside and the other city officials will hold over. Mr. Strong says that if no canvass is made next week he will procure a writ of mandamus to compel the Board of Aidermen to do their duty. Should he do so, the Garcido faction, by appealing from one court to another, can keep their chief in office until near the close of the term for which he was a candidate yesterday. The holding over of Garcide means also the retension of the Gorman Police Commissioners, while the seating of Strong would remove the Garcide city officials and the Gorman police. That is the case in a nutshell.

It is expected that the Gorman men have prepared, or have in course of preparation, sets of returns from the Fourth ward, showing sufficient plurality there for Gorman to overcome Strong's plurality in the other four wards. Nevertheless, it is difficult to see how Gorman can be declared Mayor in any event, as the Canvassing Board is unanimously against him.

The fare for the round trip, including three meals and sleeper, will be $25. The trains will be split up into three sections. In Chicago, 500 of the braves will be accommodated at the Leland Hotel, 150 at the Auditorium, and the others at McCoys Hotel. A Chicago band of fifty pleces has been engaged.

The Committee resolved to open the naturalization bureau a month earlier than usual. Fach leader piedged his district to $50 worth of tickets for the benefit to be tendered to the family of the late Patrick Hannon, who was for many years the engineer of the Wigwam.

Rother Thun Which Terence V. Powderi Would Get Bolling Drunk.

Master Workman Terence V. Powderly ad dressed a large audience of the Enights of Labor at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn last night, discussing the management and control of railroads, the land question, and woman's rights. He denounced by name woman's rights. He denounced by name a certain widely known proprietor of cheap reacturants who began the work of the day with prayer and paid the girl walters the starvation wages of SAGO a week. He said that sooner than patronize such an establishment he would go to the nearest gin mill, and, temperance man though he was, "get boiling drunk." This citented great applause. Letters sympathizing with Mr. Powderly in his work were received from Dr. McGlynn and the Rev. Charles R. Baker. rector of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah.

CUSTOM HOUSE POLITICS.

Secretary Tracy's Active Interest in A polatments and Removals. President Harrison removed vesterday Dr. Charles E. Stott, assistant appraiser on Appraiser Cooper's staff. Dr. Stott was in charge of the drug division, and his removal had been recommended by Mr. Cooper, and approved by

Secretary Foster. This makes three vacancies in the Appraiser's staff. There are any number of candidates. John R. Lydecker, Collector Arthur's special deputy, John F. Henry, and Charles L. Townsend have been mentioned, and William Leay-eraft has not given up hopes, although Secre-

send have been mentioned, and William Leaycraft has not given up hopes, although Secretary Foster has said that he would have no hand in boosting Mr. Leayeraft into one of the vacant places. Secretary Tracy says he wants Leayeraft to have an assistant appraisership, and has so informed the President. The Brooklyn primaries occur on April 21, and at the meeting of the Kings County General Committee on Tuesday evening the anti-Tracy people were just a little ahoad.

The Secretary, his friends say, is in this fight to win, and his crities good humoredly declare that he has thrown his civil service notions to the winds. He demands a slice of the New York Custom House cartage contract for exSheriff Clark D. Ishinehardt. The New Yorkers say they will protest forcibly to Secretary Foster against Secretary Tracy's interference.
Mr. Tracy's licutenants yesterday promised that the Administration would reinstate James Johnston of the Twelfth ward to his old place as Treasury agent in the Custom House at $4 a day. Since Johnston's removal in 180 by Secretary Tracy's request he has had a hard row to hoe. The Secretary is licutenants also promised to have Treasury Agent Bandolph Fuller's pay increased from $0 to $8 a day.
Fuller is of the Twentieth ward of Brooklyn,
In fact, yesterday was a great day for promless by the Secretary's friends. A Federation of Machinery Trades.

CHICAGO, April 13.-Delegates from nearly all he leading organizations of machinists met at the Commercial Hotel yesterday and formed "National Federation of Machinery Trades," which is likely to become one of th most powerful organizations in the country. The Federation embraces pattern makers, boiler makers, machinists, machinery molders, and machine blacksmiths. None but skilled workmen of a high grade will be admitted. John A. Penton, Tresident of the International Brotherhood of Machinery Molders, Detroit, was elected President and Secretary.

A New Steamship Line. VERA CRUZ, April 13.-The steamship Cam den, from Philadelphia, anchored here to-day completing the first voyage in the service of the new Mexican International Steamship Company. This company was only recently organized, and is Mexican. The Camden is a British vessel, but she will sail under the Mex-ican flag. MARINE INTELLIGENCE
